Honesty Atones Absent-mindedness

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—"I must have been like an absent minded professor," said the man who left his $15,000 life savings in a New York hotel room and then couldn't find his hotel.

Maxim Radin, 79, a barber in California for 50 years, was to sail for his native Yugoslavia with his savings in a battered linen valise.

Radin arrived in New York a week ago Sunday and checked in at the Hotel Ashley. He paid $12 for the two day's rent, unpacked and went for a walk. "Then I couldn't find my way back," he told newsmen Monday night. "I couldn't even remember the name of the hotel."

He wandered around New York for two days looking for the Hotel Ashley. He went to police. They drove him around until he spotted what he thought was his hotel. But what he thought was his room was bare.

Radin was convinced he had been robbed of his valise containing $11,067 in travelers' checks, $3,800 in cash, $600 in 20 gold pieces, a bill of sale for an Oakland apartment building, his passport and steamship tickets.

The dejected Radin had enough cash in a money belt to fly back to Oakland.

"We had no idea what had happened to him," said Michael Funk manager of the Hotel Ashley. "He had told us he was going back to Yugoslavia to die."

Radin, unmarried, has no relatives except in Belgrade, capital of Yugoslavia.

Funk took Radin's luggage into a storage room and rented the room to Mr. and Mrs. James Labadie of Winnetka, Ill., and their sons, 11 and 13. The boys found the valise under the bed.

"I didn't know people were that honest," said Radin when reporters reached him in an Oakland hotel. "Now I'll start all over again."

Band Mothers Prepare Show

Football Scrimmage Is Preview Feature

Circleville High School Band Mothers will present their annual Football and Band Preview at 8 p. m. Friday at the CHS football field.

On the program are flag raising, a football scrimmage, and a band show honoring the grid-ers, called "Lucky Leven".

The team will be introduced along with the coaches, managers as well as the band.

A new organization of band fathers will entertain. They are called the "Glow Worms". Information on what type program the new group will present is unavailable at this time.

The fathers have been rehearsing under the direction of band mothers, Mrs. Jane Plum, Mrs. Sally Harden, Mrs. Laura Gutzelm and Mrs. Gwen Painter.

TICKETS for the Preview are 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children. They may be purchased from any band member, at the gate Friday night or by contacting ticket chairman Mrs. Joe Bell, GR 4-2347, or Mrs. Robert Dick, GR 4-3210.

A $5 prize will be awarded to the band member who sells the greatest number of tickets.

The proceeds from the preview are used by the band mothers for the purchase and maintenance of the band uniforms. The organization hopes that the preview will provide enough funds to completely outfit the band in 1961.

Stock Mart Prices Head Lower Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed lower for the fourth straight session with trading moderately active early in the afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .80 with the industrials off .90, the rails off .90 and the utilities off .40.

Pivotal issues were down from fractions to about a point.

Motors, tobaccos, building materials and electronics were irregular. The trend was over among steels, rails utilities and airlines.

Because of a tremendous pile up of orders two popular stocks were not traded at all—Telauto-graph and Comptometer. Telauto-graph was not traded Monday because exchange officials could not arrange an opening "at a reasonable price." Today the same situation affected Comptometer, which makes equipment for sending visual messages via telephone, as does Telauto-graph.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.59 at 631.87. Corporate bonds were irregular. U.S. government bonds declined.

Racial Violence Flares Up In Jacksonville Area Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Violence flared early today despite emergency police powers ordered to curb the racial outbreaks that have plagued Jacksonville, Fla., with fire bombings and shootings.

The first death of the current trouble came when policemen returned gunfire at a car carrying two Negroes which crashed into a utility pole.

In Buford, Ga., 35 miles north-east of Atlanta, a rock-throwing racial fight Monday night brought about the arrest of two dozen white youths and about an equal number of Negroes.

The outbreaks came as New Orleans looked toward U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright for a decision on a plea for delay in his orders to integrate the city's first grades and as Delaware school authorities were under court order to speed up integration of their schools.

The Negro man killed in Jacksonville was not identified. Police officers who fired at the car in which he was riding said he had not been shot. A companion, identified as Willie Green, 44, of Jacksonville, said he did not know the dead man. They met in a bar and decided to ride around and "raise hell," Green told police.

An attendant at a service station fired upon by the Negroes narrowly escaped death. A bullet hit a pistol in his pocket and then punctured a can of oil in the pocket.

Fire bombs — kerosene-filled glass bottles — were thrown at a number of stores causing damage estimated at $4,815. Several failed to explode or burned harmlessly outside the establishments.

The new outbreaks in Jacksonville came despite emergency police powers invoked by Mayor

Haydon Burns. He banned street gatherings of more than four persons and unnecessary auto traffic following fights and vandalism over the weekend.

Burns refused official sanction to a request from the Jacksonville Ministerial Alliance for a biracial committee to iron out the troubles. He said such committees in other towns have resulted in integration.

The Georgia incident began when Negroes reportedly hurled stones at cars occupied by white youths on the main street of the small community. The white youths chased the Negroes into the Negro section and continued the battle until police arrived.

3 Men Due To Influence New Rules on Beauty Shops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The beauty industry — particularly state standards for beauty shops, training schools and personnel — will get some attention from next year's Legislature.

Ironically, three men are particularly influential in the plan to improve the state's relationship with the beauty business, which generally (although not necessarily accurately) has a feminine connotation.

One is Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. Another is Joseph Florio, a slight, intense Columbus beauty salon owner who is the first man to be elected chairman of the State Board of Cosmetology in 13 years. The third is Dr. Arthur James of Toledo, the other man on the three-member board.

Dr. James had this explanation for representatives of the industry recently:

"Your industry has grown rapidly and is now about the fourth largest in the United States. Gov. DiSalle saw that this rapid growth has antiquated the existing methods of control . . .

"Following the resignations of Mrs. (Lily) West (the last chairman) and Mrs. (Alice) Hayes (a board member), their vacancies were filled by appointing Joe Florio of Columbus and Mrs. Emmaline Mitchell of Youngstown . . . no political pressure was brought to bear in their selection."

If Mrs. Mitchell is outnumbered by the two men on the board, she at least can count on a balance of numbers when Mrs. Betty K. Stiversen, the new executive secretary, is taken into account. She manages the office staff and is in

Kennedy Campaign Is OK, DiSalle Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Kennedy for President campaign in Ohio is not bogging down, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle declared Monday.

Commenting on the possibility that the Democratic organization might name Sen. Stephen M. Young as a campaign coordinator for the state, DiSalle said:

"Kennedy can carry Ohio and he can carry it with the campaign that is mapped out."

The Democratic Party campaign caravan already has conducted 70 meetings around the state, he pointed out. But he added that it will be "a slugging campaign."

charge of the inspection program for Ohio's 9,000-plus beauty shops.

Two men on the board is unusual in that only a half-dozen have served since it was formed in 1933. The last man to serve as chairman was Howard L. Shearer, elected in 1947.

The new chairman, Joseph Florio, agrees that the state has some catching up to do. Among the changes he'd like to see are these:

1. A general revision, perhaps with the help of the State Education Department, of the examination given applicants for operators' licenses, including a more graphic illustration of proficiency by working on an entire head of hair within a specified time limit.

2. A pool of local beauticians in the area where the test is to be given (probably Columbus), who would be paid by the day to

Steel Upturn Is Expected In October

CLEVELAND (AP)—Only modest improvement in the steel industry's orders, output and shipments are expected in the month ahead, but steelmen hope for a vigorous upturn in October, says the magazine Steel.

"They're counting on seasonal factors, heavy output of new cars, and resumption of buying by users who have cut their inventories as much as they dare," it reported.

Market analysts had predicted an upturn in August, the trade journal noted, but at many steel companies new orders were up only 5 per cent, and "viewed from the threshold, September looks like August did 30 days ago."

Shipments in September will not gain much because automakers are curtailing their production schedules and other consumers are reducing their inventories more than expected, Steel said.

Steel production in August averaged 54.3 per cent of rated capacity, and the magazine said this was 4 points better than the July rate, but still under the predicted 56 per cent.

Part of the blame for this can be laid to unforeseen labor problems, it continued, such as a railroad strike at the Pittsburgh plant of U.S. Steel Corp. Last week's rate slipped two-tenths of a point to 54.5 per cent.

test applicants, saving the expense and lost time of bringing the board's examiners in from the field to run it.

3. Rotation of examiners' territories so that none gets too chummy with the people being inspected.

4. A general license fee increase to help defray the increasing cost of new methods and controls.

5. Surety bond required from beauty schools to guarantee that they won't fold in the middle of the students' instruction, a minimum footage of working space requirements for each student, tighter requirements for instructors (three years operator-manager experience, 12th grade education, formal preparation for instructing, minimum age of 21, character references and a separate $10 license).

6. Minimum working space per customer requirements for Ohio beauty salons, and first aid equipment requirement.

7. A requirement of one year's experience before opening a salon.

8. Establishment of a demonstrator's license, costing from $3 to $56, to demonstrate styles, techniques and products in Ohio. (For one thing, says Florio, this would help the board keep track of demonstrations).

9. A requirement that operators have at least a 10th grade education, instead of the present eighth grade minimum.

10. License revocation of a salon which permits a student operator to work on paying customers, with the offending student to be discharged from his school.

Chrysler Fights Detroit Lawyer

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. said today it has filed a 30-million-dollar libel and slander suit against Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann.

The suit was filed in Superior Court in Wilmington, Del., today.

Dann is a plaintiff in three pending suits against Chrysler.

Chrysler said it charged Dann with attempting to undermine and destroy confidence and faith of Chrysler's dealers and stockholders. It asks 30 million dollars plus punitive damages, Chrysler said.

Dann has acted out of malice and for the deliberate purpose of injuring the auto company.

Woman Doctor Enjoys Cloud Of Controversy Around Her

NEW YORK (AP)—An auburn-haired woman doctor from Romania is getting accustomed to being a controversial figure in international medical circles.

Ever since word of Dr. Anna Aslan's age-resisting experiments with an H3 procaine formula began to filter through the Iron Curtain a few years back, she has been the center of heated dispute.

Doctors in this country and England have said there is no real evidence that H3, which she has been injecting for 13 years, is any good at all as a rejuvenating drug.

Dr. Aslan says: "It's very good! I'm controversial because I would not have learned so much about my work if I had not had to discuss it with so many people. And as Confucius said: 'Nobody throws a stone at an apple tree without any apples.'"

Besides, it makes me very happy to have done something others said was impossible."

With the air of a proud mother, Dr. Aslan produces snapshots of patients at the Institute of Geriatrics in Bucharest, of which she is director.

There's a hearty-looking fellow she says is 115. A man of 87, who she says was crippled with arthritis when he started on H3, is doing a headstand on a table in one picture; in another he's posing with his bride, 78.

Dr. Aslan is 63 and has been experimenting on herself with procaine for a decade. She looks an attractive, active 45.

"That's the only thing everyone is in accord on," she says, "that I look younger than my age."

She is on her way back to Romania from San Francisco where she presented a paper on H3 at

New Red Peace Proposals

The communists, who have been hurling thunder and lightning at the West, now alternate with gentle zephyrs of disarmament and peace proposals. This is not new, of course.

But recently there have been separate overtures from the Russian reds and from the Chinese reds.

Khrushchev has proposed a universal disarmament conference, Russian style, within the United Nations. At the same time Premier Chou of the Chinese reds has suggested he would like to conclude a "peace pact" with the U. S. This was immediately rejected by Washington as a meaningless gesture since what Chou apparently really wants is a nuclear-free zone in Asia.

Have the communists again veered to the belief that the West is now softened up for the right-to-the-jaw of a peace proposal? And why separate proposals?

Do the reds think there is greater propaganda value in two proposals instead of one, or has Khrushchev suggested the United Nations because it is the one place where the Chinese reds cannot be present, since they aren't members?

Machine Now Saves Money

In pleasant contrast to the seemingly endless disclosures of waste and inefficiency in the armed services is the establishment in New Jersey of an electronic housekeeper. It is actually an electronically controlled inventory center where a flick of a switch will show the amount of supplies and equipment aboard half the ships of the Atlantic fleet.

The Navy's watchdog will cost about $400,000 to run the first year, but it is expected to save the taxpayers about $16.5 million in its first over-all redistribution of equipment and supplies.

That saving, together with the promise of annual savings well above the cost of the new system is good news, surpassed only by the military's sudden concern about getting the most for our money.

You a TV Western Addict?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you an addict of television Western programs?

Do you feel they are brightening your life because you spend more time watching them than you do working at your job or entertaining your wife and children?

Do not despair. Hope may be at hand. The ailment may cure itself spontaneously. It did with me.

Today there are millions of Americans addicted to liquor, narcotics or gambling. But for every one of these there are probably five who are compulsive viewers of TV horse operas.

The disease is insidious in its onset. At first the victim is so preliminarily self-confident. "I can take this stuff or leave it alone," he says, twirling the knobs on his TV set.

That's the way I felt, too. At the start I watched one. I discovered one Western program wasn't enough.

One simply left me feeling empty and unsatisfied. I craved more gunfire more stampedes, more redskin raids, more U.S. Cavalry charges, more rustlers. Without knowing it I was hooked.

One led to another, and soon I was thinking up excuses to leave the office early so I could get home early and switch on the kid Westerns.

"Daddy, do we have to look at any more cowboys?" pleaded my 7-year-old daughter, Tracy.

"Shut up, kid," I grated, "and watch the posse."

"You don't eat dinner any more," complained my wife. "You just gulp your food in between hangings and stagecoach hold-ups."

It was true. It got so I couldn't even go to sleep unless I first had a nightcap in the form of a late, late movie.

When the doctor heard of my vice, he said: "We're getting a lot of cases like yours lately.

You're simply suffering Western rallucinations — a form of TV DTs."

He suggested that I taper off. I couldn't taper off. The disease got worse. Then suddenly one night, while I was watching my fifth Western program of the evening, I began to sweat. I trembled violently.

The hero was just about to gun down the villain, but I instinctively switched off the set. In a few moments I calmed down and felt better.

What had happened? I still don't know. But the disease had apparently run its course. It is still too early to be sure the remedy is permanent but I feel it is.

If you are a helpless horse opera addict, don't give up hope. An overdose of the stuff may turn you into a teetotaler, too, and you can start living a normal life again free from the noise of bang-bang.

Legal Needle in Haystack

By George Sokolsky

For reasons of their own, Soviet Russia invited Vincent William Hallinan, a San Francisco lawyer, to attend the trial of Francis G. Powers, the U-2 pilot. Hallinan attended as an observer. He was not asked by the Government of the United States to be an observer. For that purpose an embassy is maintained in Moscow. Why then did the Soviet Legal Society ask this particular person?

Hallinan is not the president of the American Bar Association. He is not the dean of a distinguished law school. He is not a judge or even a particularly prominent jurist. So why was he asked?

Will, he is an American Marxist. He once said that he developed from an intellectual rebel to a Marxist-Leninist. By any definition, a man who so describes himself could be called a Communist by his own admission whether he belongs to the Communist Party or not.

One of his clients was Harry Bridges whom he defended in 1949; another was Marion Bachrach, indicted under the Smith Act, in 1950. In 1952, he ran for President under the label of the Independent Progressive Party. If you do not know of this party, it is way out Left. He has been on the board of directors of the Civil Rights Congress and in 1951 was vice president of the National Lawyers Guild.

So far as the Attorney General's list is concerned, he has supported the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, the California Labor School, the Northern California Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born, and the Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case.

So the Russians regard him as a suitable American observer. Out of the thousands of American lawyers, they pick this one to return to this country to say that everything they, the Russians, have done is perfect. Actually, they have had experience with Hallinan. He toured Europe in 1959 and issued a statement from Moscow to the effect that he had visited a Russian jail and that the Russian prison system is far superior to that of the United States.

In this, Hallinan is not altogether without intimate knowledge. In 1952, he served six months in McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary for contempt of court which arose out of the Bridges trial. In 1954-55, he served 18 months for income tax evasion as a result of which he was suspended from practice for three years. He resumed legal practice in March 1960.

This then is the needle in the haystack that Soviet Russia found to invite to Moscow as the American observer in the Powers Case. If there was to be an American observer, custom and decency require that such an invitation be extended to the Government of the United States. Then the Government could, if it wished to send a lawyer, request the Department of Justice to select a learned jurist, a man of distinction, to attend the trial.

The likelihood is that somebody from the embassy would have attended officially. But Soviet Russia picked this lawyer who had once been suspended from practice who had twice been imprisoned, to represent the United States. It was not a little out of the ordinary, but then who expects the correct and the ordinary in matters affecting Russia?

Now presumably Vincent William

Hallinan will return to the United States to engage in propagandistic speeches on behalf of Soviet jurisprudence. He will undoubtedly pose as an expert on Soviet law and American espionage and will condemn the Pentagon and the CIA. And there will undoubtedly be women's clubs that will pay a fee to listen to intimate talks on this subject.

It is amazing how many so-called Americans have suddenly become experts on Soviet Russia and how many of them travel about the country praising the ways of life of the bitterest foe we have had in our history.

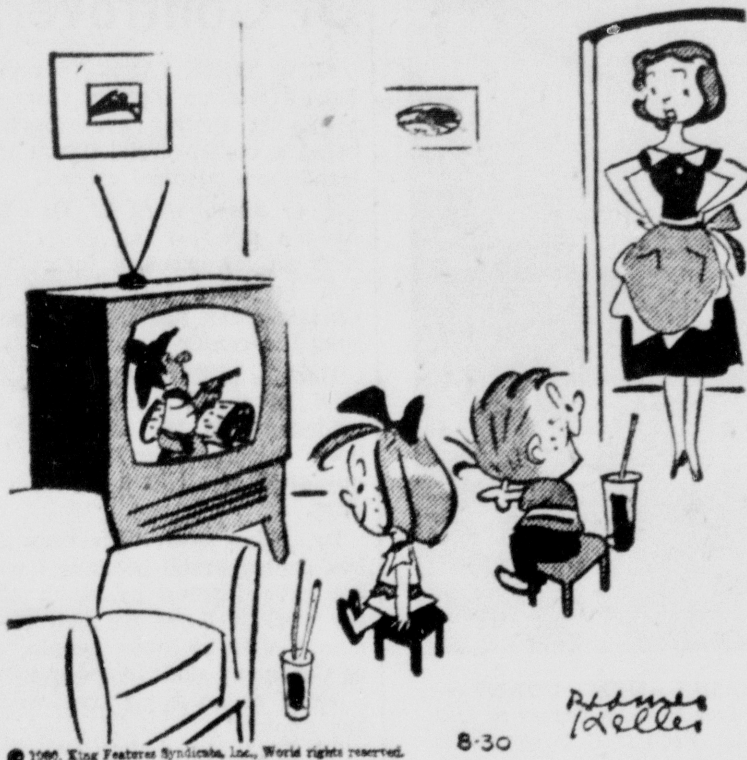

I have come across a group of such extollers of Russia in the richest circles on Park Avenue and wonder precisely what great interest takes them so regularly to Soviet Russia and what satisfaction it is to them to run down the United States and all its works.

Some of these people go to Russia as often as every other year and have been doing it since World War II ended.

There must be something good in the United States and something bad in Soviet Russia!

Perfection is only in Heaven.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BEAUTIFUL BABE sat in a corner of an airport crying her beautiful eyes out. A stalwart traveling salesman could stand it no longer and swept her into his arms.

"There, there, my dear girl," he soothed. "You're no longer alone with your sorrow. Tell me what's wrong and Papa will make you stop crying."

"I don't think you can," sobbed the beautiful girl. "It's hay fever. But just keep on trying."

A college dance was enlivened by the arrival of a ravishing blonde whose strapless evening gown clung tighter to her torso than a postage stamp—and had about the same dimensions, too.

Above the awed murmurs of the boys in the room came the voice of the chaperone. "Let me introduce you," she said sweetly, "to Professor Binswanger here. He gives a course in structural engineering—and has a small question he'd like to ask you."

Epilepsy Hard To Figure

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Recently, I wrote a column telling how a bystander may help a person undergoing an epileptic seizure.

I passed along a few of the more common symptoms which an epileptic suffering a grand mal attack is likely to display.

But I barely touched the surface on this epileptic symptom matter. Often even we doctors are hard pressed to diagnose a case of epilepsy on the basis of symptoms recalled by the patient or his family.

You and I almost everyone else, of course, can recognize the usual convulsion. However, an uncontrollable outburst of laughter without indication of mirth, might be a symptom of epilepsy.

A periodic nauseating or painful gastric sensation followed by vomiting spells might also be a symptom. Epilepsy, however, isn't the only disorder which can produce such occurrences.

Some symptoms of epilepsy are pretty bizarre. A patient sometimes lowers his head, runs across the room and butts the wall.

Periods of sexual excitement without any apparent reason may also be an indication of epilepsy.

Some epilepsy patients have visual disturbances.

Some may hear strange sounds as a seizure begins. There may be a buzzing sound, a hissing noise or perhaps the patient thinks he hears the roar of an airplane motor.

Sometimes the first signs of an attack are a whirling, twirling sensation, dizziness or unsteadiness. Or there may be a feeling of butterflies in the stomach, accompanied by rumblings, cramps and a sinking sensation.

More common, however, are irregular, convulsive movements of any portion of the body, limbs or face. Usually such movements occur in the big toe, the angle of the mouth or the thumb or index fingers.

In some instances, the epileptic will have hallucinations of feeling warm or cold. Or he may imagine that pins and needles are sticking him or that he feels a tingling sensation or a numbness.

Every one of these symptoms may indicate a case of epilepsy. Or it may not.

You can see what a difficult time we sometimes have in coming up with the right answer.

Question and Answer

J. L. M.: I am awakened from a deep sleep very often by a loud popping sound in my ear.

Could this be anything serious? Answer: This is probably due to a sudden opening of the eustachian tube and can be corrected by treatment.

Population Explosion Fails To Trigger Boom in Housing

NEW YORK (AP)—The population growth has yet to trigger another big jump in home building. Had it already done so the whole economic picture would be brighter. Builders would be happier, and so would building material suppliers, appliance makers, and construction workers.

That another building surge is coming, the industry is confident. But, as in other parts of today's economy, the timing is a current disappointment. The date is being put back. The growing population should exert its pressure in another two or three years.

The other spark that had been counted on to warm up home building this year—easing of money costs and supplies—has so far failed to catch fire. But it's there to turn housing wants into buying demand when the population growth catches up.

Government figures show that housing starts in the first half of this year ran well behind last year. Latest figures by the construction news specialist, F. W. Dodge Corp., show the dollar volume of residential building contracts in July was 20 per cent behind a year ago (although a subtotal, apartment building, was 6 per cent ahead of last year) and the number of dwelling units involved was 23 per cent below July 1959.

This drop is in the face of reports that more money is becoming available for mortgage financing in many parts of the nation and that in a few the terms of financing are more favorable for home builders.

As far as home builders are concerned, the trouble with the unquestioned jump in total population is that the growth has been largely confined to groups that buy few homes—those under 20 and those over 60.

Home builders find their biggest markets among the young marrieds—particularly those who have gone through the early stage of apartment dwelling and with a family coming along look for homes in the suburb.

But those now turning 20 were born not long before Pearl Harbor and those now 30 were born after the big stock market crash—this entire group of potential home owners belongs to the depress on baby crop, a notably small one.

In the next few years the war babies, a large crop will be looking for housing and in a few more the postwar babies—and then, look out. A lot of housing will be needed.

The failure of easier money to perk up building much as yet inspires a number of explanations. The most hopeful is that there's a time lag between relaxing the tight money squeeze of a few months back and making financing plans and starting construction.

Others given are that the price of new houses has climbed too high for some income groups, and that while more financing money is available the interest or discount charges haven't gone down enough yet to stimulate the market.

Finally there are those who think the chief trouble is that the great number of those seeking a home of their own have already bought one, while the newcomers are the depression babies, a smaller group.

But all you have to do is to look at the throngs now heading for or returning to the nation's schools to see that before the decade is over the demand for housing is going to be the biggest ever. And if personal incomes and financing terms allow, so will be the home buying.

Cycling Rapist Identified by Schoolteacher

CHICAGO (AP) — A vacationing London schoolteacher who was attacked and robbed in downtown Grant Park last week identified her assailant, police said today.

Police took the youth, picked up on a charge of rape and attempted rape to the hospital bedside of Joy Rosemary Grant, 30, a few hours before she was to undergo surgery for a fractured jaw suffered in the attack Aug. 23.

The youth held, identified as Jasper Mines, 16, a Negro was arrested Sunday night. He was identified police said, by a woman as the man who raped her Aug. 20 and by a waitress as the man who attempted to rape her in a parking lot Saturday. Both women are white.

Police said Mines admitted attacking the older woman and the waitress but denied the attack on Miss Grant.

Police said Mines, on one-year probation for auto larceny, was picked up because of his previous record and because a red bicycle was seen near the attacks. Mines has a red bicycle, police said.

2 Airlines Given Added Stops in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today awarded additional routes to Lake Central Airlines and North Central Airlines in deciding the four-year-old Great Lakes local service case.

The board upheld in general most of the recommendations of Examiner Barron Fredericks on Sept. 29, 1959, but made some changes.

The board's decision included: Lake Central authorized for an indefinite period to add three new segments to its routes: (1) between Detroit and Pittsburgh via Toledo, Sandusky, Cleveland Akron-Canton and Youngstown; (2) between Erie and Pittsburgh; and (3) between Charlestown W. Va. and Pittsburgh by way of Elkins, Clarksburg, Fairmont, Morgantown, and Wheeling, W. Va.

Lake Central authorized for five-year period to serve following three new segments: (1) between Columbus, Ohio and Washington and Baltimore by way of Zanesville, Ohio, and Wheeling and Morgantown, W. Va.; (2) between Cincinnati and Washington and Baltimore via Portsmouth, Ohio, Parkersburg, W. Va., Marietta, Ohio, and Clarksburg-Fairmont and Elkins, W. ## Ironton Man, 20, Faces Murder Rap IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Carlos Jenkins, 20, of Rt. 3, Ironton was charged Monday with first-degree murder in the rifle slaying of his brother-in-law Harold E. Stephenson, 57.

Jenkins immediately entered a plea of innocent in Municipal Court to the charge filed by Sheriff Carl E. Rose. Jenkins was held in county jail without bond.

Stephenson, also of Rt. 3, Ironton, was shot through the chest Sunday night. His body was found in a road near his mother-in-law's home in the Pigeon Hollow section northwest of Ironton.

Sheriff Rose reported Jenkins admits the slaying. Jenkins was quoted as saying he had held a grudge against Stephenson for two years, but there was no further explanation.

gale the dinner hour with such as this:

"Knock-knock," they say. "Who's there?" you question warily if not wearily.

"Boo."

"Well, if you're gonna cry 'bout it, I'm not gonna tell you."

You will notice they have latched on to not only the same formula but the same belabored puns.

Oh, a few are updated. Who's there?

Eisenhower. Eisenhower who?

That is not a bit worse than the ones in 1936 when everybody — from college professor to garage mechanic — was Knock-Knocking and entering contests to win cash prizes for homemade puns. It was a national mania.

Sample of 1936, presidential-election style: Who's There? Landon. Landon bridge is falling down.

Current version: Nixon. Nixon stones may break my bones but names, etc.

Or: Humphrey. Humphrey - ever blowing bubbles.

Your child will toss this one at you: Little old lady. Little old lady who? Oh I didn't know you could yodel.

Return this one: Petunia Petunia old gray bonnet with the blue ribbons on it.

In 1936 when you, too, regarded anyone over 20 as hopelessly square that sort of thing brought down the house. Other vintage knock-knocks:

Arthur. Arthur who? Our thermometer.

Jose. Jose can you see by the dawn's early light.

Ivan. Ivan to be alone.

Sarah. Sarah doctor in the house.

Swarm. Today today, isn't it?

Seminole. Seminole cowhand, from the Rio Grande.

Delia. Delia cards off the top.

You may recall, Knock-Knocking garnered such enthusiasm in 1936 that a hit song was written about it and orchestra leader Vincent Lopez offered 25 miniature pianos as prizes in his own K-K Kontest. He got 5,000 letters full of entries.

Nobody ever embalmied the principles in cold dogma, and rules for Knock-Knocking were extremely fluid. Surely you remember:

Knock-knock. Who's There. Opportunity. You can't fool me. Opportunity only knocks once.

Tarzan. Tarzan stripes forever.

Diesel. Diesel be your last chance.

Welcome. Welcome up and see me sometime.

Mandamus. Mandamus be hard for something to do.

Valencia. Valencia buck, would you pay it back?

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Best Entertainment for Girls

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is going to have her 15th birthday party and she has invited six girls. Do you know of any games they could play after dinner?

MRS. D. D. S.
DEAR MRS. S.: Invite some boys.

DEAR ABBY: You have just set women's rights back 50 years! Your answer to "EMILY" advising her to "obey" her husband and not wear shorts in public was about as narrow-minded as any answer I've ever read from you.

Since when do women let their husbands tell them how to dress? Emily said she wore shorts before she was married and her husband didn't object, but as soon as they were married he put his foot down. Why the change of heart?

AGNES
DEAR AGNES: A man feels a "pride of ownership" in his wife that he didn't feel toward a girlfriend. Giving up wearing shorts in public is a small sacrifice for a wife who really cares for her husband.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to Emily in regard to her wearing shorts in public was a good one. A man who would allow his wife to display herself in public isn't much of a husband. I think most men feel the same but haven't the nerve to lay down the law. Thanks, Abby, for letting people know that one husband doesn't want his wife wearing shorts in public, and also for agreeing with him.

ANOTHER HUSBAND

DEAR ABBY: I recently moved to a small town where everybody knows everybody else's business. I have told everyone that I am a widow because I have two children, but actually, I have never been married.

Recently a man I used to know found out where I was and came here and moved into my house. I have been telling everyone he is my brother. I detest this man because I am trying to live right and forget the past, but he says if I don't let him stay he will tell everyone about my past. What must I do?

SCARED

DEAR SCARED: Throw him out even if you have to call the police to help you. It would be better to have your past revealed than to allow such a bum to live with you.

If you want a personal reply from Abby write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Benedict Heiress Goes into Court

NEW YORK (AP)—Gamble Benedict Porumbeau, 19, an heiress who eloped last April, initiated court action today to remove her grandmother as guardian.

The grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict, has opposed the girl's marriage to Andrei Porumbeau and also has opposed her efforts to get a larger allowance under an inheritance.

The acts of the grandmother "are inconsistent with my rights as an emancipated and married woman," the heiress said through her attorney, Louis Jay Brecher, in State Supreme Court.

As a preliminary move, Brecher applied for court authority to "break the seal" on papers whereby the grandmother was appointed guardian in 1951.

Justice Henry Epstein reserved decision. Mrs. Porumbeau, who is expecting a child is scheduled to inherit approximately $500,000 when she becomes 21 on Jan. 15, 1961.

You've Got To Look Tubular To Wear New Paris Fashions

PARIS (AP)—Here's the new Paris silhouette. Now where's that diet list?

You've got to look tubular to be a la mode, as shown by the season's first fashion photos from France, released for publication today.

Curves are out, and the flat-as-a-board figure is in. Worse, you can't count on stiff foundations to conceal anything. They've put the puffed skirt in mothballs. The new cut is usually bias, and the materials are almost always drapy, so even when the outline is loose, it takes a skinny figure to wear it.

Daytime colors are so dark as to be almost funereal. You can take your pick of black, brown, prune purple or steel grey.

The girls with good legs still have the advantage, for hemlines cover the knees with just an inch or two to spare.

Probably on purpose, the designers have made it tough for the do-it-yourself brigades. With the new bias drapes, everything depends on the cut and the hang of the thing. Copying will be a tricky business.

But if you've always longed to look like a flapper or a clinging vine. Here's your chance, sanctioned by high fashion. Most of the designers dipped liberally into the lore of the late 1920s and early 1930s for a new silhouette to usher in the 1960s.

The general trends include wraparound—envelope dresses, mid-hip suit jackets, back-buttonings, high ring collars, fur trimmings, lightly flared or bag-bottomed skirts, and high-crowned clothes or helmets, worn with a shingle bob and dark eye makeup.

To nobody's surprise, Dior was different. Many of designer Yves Saint-Laurent's creations showed half the kneecaps. His little lemon of a skirt, starting at a mid-hip and ending at mid-knee, was tacked on to a long torso tube or middy top which forgot all about bustlines and waistlines.

Junior High Opens Drills

Coach Sarchet Has Eager Crop of 64

An eager crop of 7th and 8th grade footballers report to Coach Paul Sarchet today for the first practice of the season.

Approximately 64 candidates reported for physical examinations last week. The roster included 34 eighth graders and 30 seventh graders.

The junior high gridders already have been oriented on the coming season. Equipment will be issued Thursday.

Uniforms and other essentials, ordered by the Circleville Booster Club, already are here. The suits are red trimmed in white with black helmets.

THE Booster Club is backing the junior high program. It marks the first time in history for organized 7th and 8th grade football at Circleville.

Coach Sarchet, a member of varsity mentor Carl Benhase's staff, will guide the junior high gridders through the season. He coached a successful flag ball program here last season.

The ambitious grade school force opens its season September 29 at General Sherman in Lancaster. The home season begins October 6 when General Sherman comes here for a return match.

Coach Sarchet said his candidates will practice at S. Court St. Elementary School where they will be in close touch with the varsity squad.

Robbie Returning To Redleg Lineup

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Robinson, whose batting has improved since his return to the outfield, was to go back in the lineup for today's game against the Cubs.

That was the promise of Manager Fred Hutchinson after a report on Robbie's injuries.

The outfielder was knocked unconscious briefly, shaken up and bruised in a collision with teammate Vada Pinson last Friday in a game at Los Angeles.

Hutch also said that he's going to keep ex-shortstop Roy McMillan at second base for a while at least.

McMillan moved over to make room at shortstop for Chico Cardenas, the skinny Cuban flash who is the Reds' best bet to inherit the job from McMillan.

71 Amateurs Set For Test in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—A field of 71 amateurs from Ohio and Kentucky were to make the annual scramble today for seven berths at the U.S. Amateur golf tournament.

A chief contender this year is power-driving Roger McManus of Cincinnati who reached the national semifinals in 1958.

McManus fired a 3-under-par 67 in a practice round last week at the Camargo Country Club where the qualifier is being held.

The big name missing from the field is Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus, the ox-strong sharpshooter who won the Colonial Invitation Tournament at Memphis last Sunday.

Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers led National Football League scoring last season with 94 points.

American Swimmers Seeking More Olympic Gold Medals

ROME (AP)—America's swimmers and divers sought to triple their gold medal output today with three aquatic finals on the Olympic Game program.

But blocking their way was golden-haired Ingrid Kramer, the 17-year-old East German diver, who already has won the springboard event and led going into today's high diving competition.

She was in front by 1.60 points with Paula Jean Pope of Santa Ana, Calif., the favorite second.

The United States—its only gold medal won Monday in men's springboard diving by Californian Gary Tobian—needed points badly in its heralded, unofficial battle with Russia for the team title. The Russians had 61 points, Italy and Germany 60 and the United States 40.

The best American bids for gold medals (and the 10 points that go with them) were in tonight's women's 100-meter butterfly final and men's 200-meter breaststroke windup.

Carolyn Schuer, 17-year-old schoolgirl from Orinda, Calif., smashed the Olympic record and led the qualifiers in the women's butterfly. Bill Mulliken of Champaign, Ill., raced in Olympic record time in both the preliminaries and semis to gain the men's breaststroke final.

Host Italy sought a sweep of the six cycling gold medals as favorite in the individual road race that began early this morning. Pieter Von Kreunigen of Holland held the early lead in the 18.6 mile race, the last and feature event of Olympic cycling.

Before the start, a minute of silence was ordered by the jury to honor the late Danish cyclist, Kurt Enemark Jensen, who died in the killing heat in the team road event last Friday.

Swimming, soccer and cycling dominated the Olympic program Monday.

Tobian edged out teammate Sam Hall in the event he wasn't expected to win. His specialty is the upcoming platform diving.

Tobian's performance was shaded by Australia's Dawn Fraser who won the 100 meter free style for the second time, the first woman ever to do so. She beat Chris Von Saltz, in a heralded rivalry, in 1:01.2, breaking her own Olympic mark of 1:24 and matching her own world record.

Two more Olympic records were shattered by the Americans in the aquatic events. Carolyn Schuler, 17, did the 1 meter butterfly in 1:01.2, breaking her own preliminary record of 1:11.0 by America's Shelley Mann.

The United States' Bill Mulliken was clocked in 2:37.2 in winning his semifinal heat of the men's 200 meter breaststroke breaking his own mark of 2:38 set last Friday.

One world record fell. In the men's 800 meter free style relay preliminaries, Japan topped its own existing mark of 8:18.7 with a 8:17.1 performance. Australia is awaiting however, certification of an 8:16.6 time turned in on Aug. 6. The Americans won the other heat of this event, putting Japan and the United States in direct challenge in the finals as the favorites.

In the water polo competition, defending champion Hungary led seven other teams into the semifinals. The Hungarians along with Yugoslavia, Holland, and the United States survived to form one bracket with Italy, Romania, Russia and Germany in the other.

Power-packed Brazil, along with Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Denmark, Argentina, France and Hungary,

Browns Fledglings Due To Test 49ers

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP)—Several of the Cleveland Browns' untried players will be tested in an effort to find bench strength when the Browns meet the San Francisco 49ers in an exhibition game at nearby Portland Saturday night.

Coach Paul Brown said Monday that his first offensive and defensive teams are pretty well set and now he is looking for adequate replacements in case of injuries.

Brown said he felt he uncovered one solid extra man last Saturday night when Dave Lloyd went the distance at center against the Los Angeles Rams in place of the injured John Morrow.

THEY'VE BEEN LETTING FREEDOM RING in Africa all year, but in some places the gong has been getting kicked around, especially in these two, the Republic of Congo and the Mali Federation. In the Congo, Katanga province, the richest, wants to secede, has been causing a lot of international woe for its weight. And Mali hardly got the French yoke off its neck before Senegal decided to separate from The Sudan. Internal power jealousies are responsible.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One curious custom of TV's private eyes is driving around in open convertibles even when all the hired guns of gangland are hot on their trail. The habit, however, is a matter of studio economics, rather than stupidity or bravado.

"It's a lot easier and cheaper to get the proper lighting on a man in an open convertible than in a sedan or a coupe," explained the producer of a show with a top-down hero.

Another irksome TV custom is the wild driving—by both hunters and hunted—during automobile chases, with the wild scream of tires as the cars go around even slight curves in the road.

Shrieking tires I am informed, are merely sound effects added to give viewer excitement. Most of such chase scenes are filmed by cameras without sound tracks. The noises are later added—along with siren sounds—by technicians.

Most sounds other than actors' voices that we hear during a completed show have been "laid in," as it is called, after the show is filmed. That includes the clomp of horses' hooves, shattering glass, even the ringing of telephones.

In filmed shows, it is the aim of the director to produce a sound track clean of everything but necessary dialogue. When an outdoor shot is necessary, it is customary to swathe the sensitive microphone in cheesecloth to prevent it from picking up even the sound of a gentle wind.

Sulky Races Highlight Card For Ohio's Annual State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—They are off and wheeling at the Ohio State Fair.

The richest harness racing program in the fair's history—with purses estimated at $135,000—got under way Monday as Miss Demon Song, owned and driven by David McClain of Lima, won the featured Ohio State Trot for two-year-olds.

Today 28 horses were named for the $30,000 Buckeye State Pace for two-year-olds. Highly favored out-of-state entries include Widow Gold, from the Billy Haughton stable, and Chance Pick, who held the season's record for two-year-olds earlier this year.

Ohio-owned hopefuls include Lang Hanover, who has four wins; Sea Plane, with three straight wins; Actor Abbe, a five-time winner, and Beep Beep.

Wednesday the Director of Agriculture Trophy goes on the line in a $26,000 race in which 58 three-year-old pacers are eligible.

The race program closes out Thursday with the Governor's Cup up for grabs in a $25,000 race for three-year-old colts. Eligible are 59 sulky-pullers.

Monday's Ohio State Trot, a $25,000 purse event, took three heats to determine the winner.

Don Dandy, owned by George Schumacher of Dayton and driven by Benny Morgan of Troy, won the first heat in 2:9 2-5. Miss Demon Song won the second heat in an identical time, then defeated Don Dandy in the race-off, covering the mile in 2:08 3-5.

Also on tap at the fair today were cattle, sheep, swine and goat judging; an Ohio State Grange talent festival; the "Future Farmer Frolics"; the coliseum horse show, the nightly grandstand circus, preceded by the All Ohio Boys Band concert; and dedication of the fraternal and service organizations' building.

The latter event is in connection with Fraternal Day at the fair. Today also was designated Farm Organization Day.

Monday, during Safety Day, four Ohio families were cited for safe farm operation. The W. W. Hagan family of Urbana, having six children ranging in age from 12 to 23, was selected as state winner from among four district finalists.

Other finalists were Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Portage; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blodgett of West Salem; and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Kemp of Cambridge.

On the livestock scene, John Ayars of Mechanicsburg exhibited his third blue-ribbon animal in five years when he showed the champion female Guernsey in the Future Farmers of America division of the Junior Fair.

Other FFA winners were Bob Hartzell of Greenville, for showing two champion rams, and Tom Thomas of London, for the champion ewe.

Still other Junior Fair winners were Claudia Boyer of Strongsville, goat showmanship; Stephen Dumbach, Mount Gilead, grand champion fleece; Gary Wagner, Greenville, grand champion female beef, and his brother, Mark Wagner, FFA showmanship.

Raymond Wecht of Dalton sold his grand champion car lot of 20 steers to a Columbus market chain for $6,092.35. The price was $30.25 per 100 pounds, $3 under last year's figure.

2 Ohioans Suspended In Horse Dope Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A trainer and a horse owner, both Ohioans, have been suspended by stewards at River Downs race track in a horse doping case.

The stewards' action Monday ruled Harry E. Rutter, Winchester, and Benjamin E. Cline, Spring Valley, off the track. Their cases are to go to the Ohio Racing Commission.

The stewards said laboratory analysis of Choice Pick, winner of the fourth race Aug. 23, indicated the animal had been given a drug similar to procaine.

His Popularity Hurting Thomas

U.S. High-Jumper Gets Little Rest in Rome

ROME (AP)—U.S. authorities said today they may be forced to put high-jumper John Thomas in hiding so that he can get some relaxation before his Olympic gold medal bid Thursday.

"This boy is undergoing literal torture," said Larry Snyder, head American track coach. "He can't eat. He can't sleep. He never has any privacy. He never gets any rest."

"People are crowding him all day long—going into his bedroom at the village, hanging over his elbows at the lunch table, mobbing him on the practice field."

"He can't show his face without having a swarm of people pouring all over him—newspapermen, cameramen and fans. There's no doubt about it—he's the most sought-after athlete in the entire village. We can't help that. But we may have to get him out of here and into a hotel room somewhere so he can catch his breath."

"Thank goodness, he competes early."

Thomas, 19, a mild-mannered Bostonian who has leaped a phenomenal 7 feet, 3 1/2 inches, is beginning to show signs of cracking under the constant wear and tear.

The gangling 6-foot-5 Negro had moisture in his eyes when he tried to describe his tribulations in the canteen Monday night.

"When I go back to my quarters they're waiting for me in my room. When I go out the door, they rush up and start asking questions and taking pictures. I can't even train without having a lot of people around me."

Despite all these distractions, the Boston University student is training as well as any member of the U.S. squad. He is regularly clearing 6-10 to 7 feet in practice.

"Sixteen may be good enough to win the gold medal," Thomas said. "There is terrific pressure in the Olympics and everybody is trying so hard and is so tense that you don't get the best performances."

"I just want that gold medal. I'm interested in winning, not in setting any records."

Daytonian Cops Southern Ohio PGA

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Jack Orman of Dayton is the new Southern Ohio P.G.A. champ after firing a 3-under-par 72-69-141 at Brown Run Country Club Monday.

Wilbur Bradenburg of Columbus, was close behind with 70-73-143.

The defending champion, Veri Stinchcomb of Portsmouth, was third with a par 144.

Art Smith of Cincinnati won the Southern Ohio Seniors tournament with a 75. It was held jointly with the morning round of the P.G.A. event.

U.S. Is Geared For Bargaining On Tariff Laws

Long Hard Session Expected as West Gathers in London

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Castro, Trujillo, Lumumba — they are but three of the trouble names on Uncle Sam's list when sizing up his trade and investment prospects with the rest of the world.

Coming up next month is a full-scale conference on tariff and trade with most of the nations of the Western world. Its timing coincides with growing protests in this country against inroads of foreign goods — often lower priced — and against loss of trade abroad to European and Japanese manufacturers.

The American industrialist is also aware that while output has been stalemated here for several months, it has been booming abroad.

A sideline, but a troublesome one, is the flow of investment money and gold from these shores for the currently more prospering ones. The dollar hasn't been undervalued — but the threat, however farfetched, is there.

The Soviet government has been causing trouble in world trade, too. While the Soviet total share is small, it manages to concentrate on sore spots — and inflame them.

The Congo's copper may be the reason Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is so solicitous about Premier Patrice Lumumba's problems there and so anxious to keep them at a boil.

The Soviet Union is shipping oil to Cuba, where our refineries have been seized by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Soviet price cutting has led American oil companies to lower prices in India and the Middle East—to the distress not only of our oil companies but of the Middle East governments dependent on oil revenues. Also upset is Venezuela at seeing much of its oil income syphoned away in the general world confusion in the oil business.

The Dominican Republic under Rafael Trujillo is flirting with Khrushchev on the heels of our breaking off of diplomatic relations. Caught in the middle are many American manufacturing, shipping and banking firms with physical assets there or thriving businesses in peril.

Trujillo's hand hovers over only a tiny part of total American investments abroad. These come to about 29 billion dollars. The spread of unrest in the world can't help but increase American worries about the safety of their money. But this investment trend continues at a fast clip—some of it representing a flight of American business to escape mounting operating costs here and to compete better with growing industrial potentials abroad.

The industrial slowdown here seems to be speeding the trend. But already the European economy was growing at a faster rate than ours. The National Industrial Conference Board reports that by the end of 1959 manufacturing output had increased by an average of 157 per cent of the 1953 level in the European Common Market countries of France, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and Italy.

It's against this background that U.S. officials go to Europe next month to bargain with the western nations in one of the periodic meetings of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. Out of these meetings come tariff and quota concessions—with prospects this time that the bargaining will be long and hard.

Ohio Solons Vote Alike on 2 of 3 Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's Democratic Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, who frequently don't see eye-to-eye on Senate bills, cast two identical votes Monday.

But on a third measure, Lausche voted for the compromise Social Security bill, which passed 74-11, while Young did not vote but was paired against it. That is, Young found another senator who favored the bill, and neither voted — so that neither side gained.

Both voted for a catch-all 305-million-dollar money bill which includes 190 million for foreign aid. That passed 67-21.

And both voted for amendments to the catch-all appropriations bill which restored 190 million of the 265 million dollars that Congress cut from foreign aid money last week. The amendments were adopted 56-31.

Lausche was one of only four Democrats who went along with every one of the Senate's 33 Republicans in voting against a resolution opposing the presidential practice of filling Supreme Court vacancies by recess appointment. The resolution was adopted 48-37.

Lausche also opposed an amendment to give FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover an annual pension equivalent to his $22,000 salary when he retired. The senator said a government pension was not designed to permit the recipient to live in luxury.

The Ohioan also said he believed the Hoover pension would set a bad precedent. But the Senate adopted the amendment, anyway, by a voice vote.

Millionth GE Lamp Produced

The one - millionth Power Groove lamp came off the production line in August according to Robert V. Corning, marketing manager for General Electric's Large Lamp Department, Cleveland.

The Power Groove fluorescent, a "configured tube" described as "the world's most powerful" fluorescent light source, is produced at the Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant, along with other fluorescent lamps.

Early in 1959 a major improvement was made in the lamp, first introduced in 1956 increasing its output by 15 per cent. This improvement featured a redesign of the tube so that it had 40 three-inch grooves alternately on opposite sides, causing the arc stream to travel a distance of nine feet in an eight-foot-long tube.

ONG Officer Is Unable To Provide Bond

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — An Ohio National Guard officer accused of stealing $16,400 from Camp Grayling's post exchange was in Crawford County jail here today, unable to post $4,000 bond to secure his release.

Justice Olin Williamson Monday ordered Lt. Daniel Wright Jr., 27, bound over to the October term of Circuit Court on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit larceny. Maximum penalty upon conviction is 15 years in prison.

The Circuit Court term starts Oct. 2. But prosecutor Ward Eliason said he would try to get an earlier hearing date for the Powell, Ohio, officer who in civilian life is a psychologist at Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio.

Wright, a military policeman with the Ohio guard's 37th Infantry Division, was with that outfit during its recently completed summer encampment at Camp Grayling. He was a duty officer assigned to the camp PX warehouse.

State Police Detective William Simmons said Wright admitted forcing a lock on the warehouse door early Friday and taking the money from an unlocked safe. Then he left for home with two other guardsmen.

But state police intercepted Wright's car 10 miles north of the Ohio state line and reported finding $12,984 stuffed in his sleeping bag. Part of the loot was in checks.

Simmons quoted Wright as saying he took the money because of financial problems.
